

【大谷家文書】 5-21-2

Handwritten text in cursive script, likely Japanese, arranged in vertical columns. The text is written on a piece of aged, yellowish paper. The columns contain approximately 10 lines of text each, written in a fluid, cursive style. The first column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The second column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The third column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The fourth column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The fifth column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The sixth column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The seventh column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The eighth column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The ninth column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke. The tenth column starts with a small mark resembling a comma or a short stroke.

